Like something? We'd love to know.

There's a bunch of things we already know about and are working on fixing for the public launch and beyond. For instance, some of our blog posts are fake because the real ones aren't there yet. Or parts of the site don't work right on an iPhone. So if you want to check our list ahead of time, feel free. But don't worry if you submit something our team already know about—it'll just help us make certain we have everything polished well for financial partners. Thanks for your help!
